

SYSTEMS AND METHODS FOR NON-DESTRUCTIVE MASS SENSING

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention provides systems and methods for measuring the mass of a substance. In one method, energy is applied to a substance and a response resulting from the application of energy as measured. The mass of the substance is then determined based at least in part on the measured response.

DE 7028655 v1